

Dear Ajit Pai and Team,

Please do not revoke previous regulations. I'm the CEO of a small business that uses the internet to create social good. While we don't compete with the major corporations at the head of this debate, I side for a fair internet and net neutrality. Without these regulations, I know our performance – and ability to hire employees – will be affected.

Paragraph 82 asks for input on whether throttling should be regulated. In the past ISPs have throttled content based on their own determination of what was lawful or permissible, and had to be forced to stop in the courts. Isn't it possible they could do this again? I'm also concerned by mobile providers who say a plan is "unlimited," but when you exceed the data cap, only throttle sites and services that aren't part of their approved zero-rating network.

I'm a business owner and am in full support of some standard regulations. Big mugs are stupid, regulation is not.

Thanks for reading my comment.

Best,

Mark
